

Enriching the lives of foster children through music.

Our Story

Fostering Music is an Armstrong County-based nonprofit dedicated to enriching the lives of children currently in, or adopted out of, the foster care system by providing musical instruments and quality instructions in conjunction with local music stores.

By partnering with local foster care agencies, we can identify the children in Western PA with the greatest need for instruments and music lessons.

Since starting in the Fall of 2018, we've expanded into six counties and have provided more than 40 kids with lessons and instruments, 11 of whom participate in weekly lessons thanks to our program!

Testimonials For Fostering Music

"Our 17-year-old granddaughter came to live with us recently during a very difficult time in her life. You providing this trumpet was a God-send, as we didn't have the money to buy her one. Thank you for providing this important gift of music to young girl who is encouraged and surprised that a complete stranger would do this for her. You are a blessing!"

- Grandfather of a 17-year-old who received a trumpet

"Getting a saxophone allowed me to practice something I love and am passionate about once again. The instrument gave me a chance to be myself and play."

- D. age 15
